Honoring military veterans and their families

Story by: Keith Hayes
CommStrat Planner

Barstow, California, has always been a military-centric community where veterans are honored year round, and 2019 saw a continuation of that tradition.

At right Col. Craig Clemans, commanding officer, Marine Corps Logistics Base Barstow, gives a keynote address to those gathered for Veterans Day ceremonies. Among those attending, as she has for the past several years, is Gold Star mother Ramona Griego, laying the first wreath on the monument of the Unknown Soldier at Mountain View Memorial Park in Barstow.

California Veterans Homes - Barstow, residents chat with Col. Clemans during their Veterans Day observation.

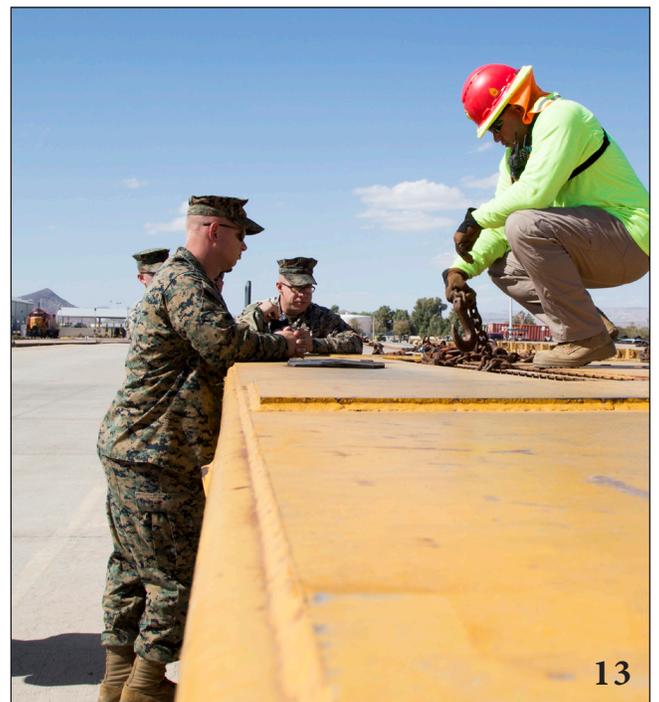

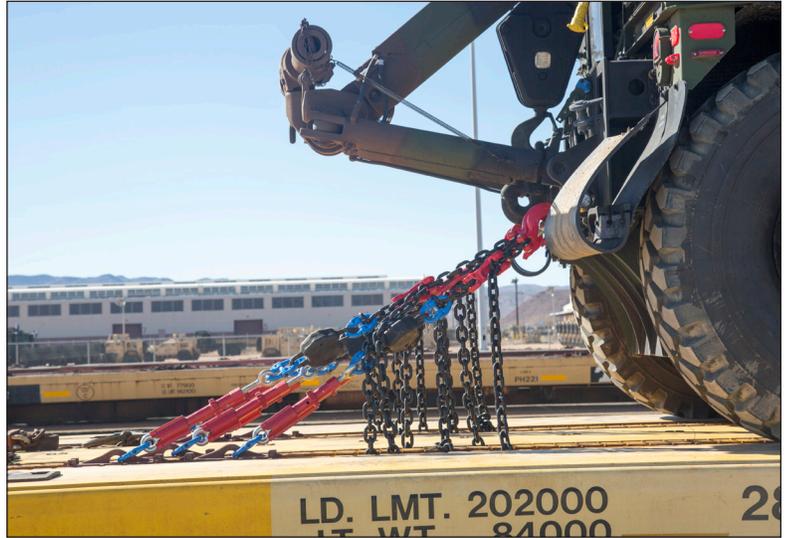

Veterans motorcycle clubs take to the highways and byways to raise awareness of issues facing veterans.
