The Career Communications Group will host the 15th military Stars and Stripes Recognition Dinner during the Black Engineer of the Year Award (BEYA) Science, Technology, Engineering and Math (STEM) Global Competitiveness Conference, held 13-15 February 2020 at the Marriott Wardman Park Hotel in Washington, DC. The Marine Corps will be the highlighted Service during this event. BEYA is an annual three day conference that brings industry professionals and students together to share their experiences and career information. Attendees can network with others from around the country while participating in seminars and workshops that explore every facet of STEM career paths. The goal of BEYA is to create connections between students, educators and STEM military professionals while facilitating partnerships with individuals and their local STEM resources.

Barstow, California, has always been a military-centric community where veterans are honored year round, and 2019 saw a continuation of that tradition.

At right Col. Craig Clemans, commanding officer, Marine Corps Logistics Base Barstow, gives a keynote address to those gathered for Veterans Day ceremonies. Among those attending, as she has for the past several years, is Gold Star mother Ramona Griego, laying the first wreath on the monument of the Unknown Soldier at Mountain View Memorial Park in Barstow.

California Veterans Homes - Barstow, residents chat with Col. Clemans during their Veterans Day observation.

Veterans motorcycle clubs take to the highways and byways to raise awareness of issues facing veterans.
